Williams Association Launches New Networking Initiative

In an effort to provide better networking opportunities to our local alums, the Association is proud to announce a new networking initiative for Washington alums. This project has two main components:

Improvement and promotion of the two main networking systems used by the College: the "Advisor" system, which connects fellow alums to one another; and the "Mentor" system, which connects alums with current Williams students.

Hosting field-specific career networking cocktail parties, at which alums can meet other Ephs in their same field of work.

Networking Initiative Kickoff Cocktail Party! -Alums from all fields should come and network!

When: Thursday, October 20th, 6:00 - 9:00 pm

Where: Topaz Bar, 1733 N St. NW, Washington, DC, 202-393-3000, www.loungedc.com.

How: RSVP to Admissions & Careers Chair Jen Doleac '03 at jdoleac@gmail.com or 978-835-5663. Jen can also provide more information on how you can get involved with this exciting new effort.

Providing the Washington area Williams community with opportunities to attend educational, charitable, networking, and social events, while promoting and supporting the College.

Joshua Gibson '94 Wins 2005 Williams Public Service Award

The Association sponsors an annual Public Service Award to recognize the public service accomplishments of a Williams alum currently living or working in the Washington area. This year's prize is the second to be awarded by the Association.

This year's winner is Josh Gibson '94, who will be honored during the Williams Fall Dinner to be held on October 25th (see p.1). Gibson won the award for his dedication to the DC community. He recently completed service as an Advisory Neighborhood Commissioner in Washington, and his proudest accomplishment was the reopening of a local low-income health clinic. In the lead-up to the closure of DC General Hospital, the clinic located in the Marie H. Reed Community Learning Center in Adams Morgan was also closed. Josh represented the community in the two years of task force meetings that followed. Finally, in September of 2003, the Community of Hope Clinic was approved to move into the vacant clinic space, and opened for business. In addition to the crucial daily services provided to their patients, the clinic played a key role in testing students for lead poisoning.

Josh has also served his community in a number of other ways, as co-founder the Adams Morgan Community Association, a neighborhood civic group, and as a member of the board of directors of the Patricia M. Sitar Center for the Arts, a neighborhood arts center serving children of all incomes.

Congratulations, Josh, and thank you for your service to the community.

Join a Fellow Eph in Helping a Family Affected by Katrina

At least one Washington area alum has taken charge in assisting a family of Hurricane Katrina evacuees. Working with her business colleagues, Janet Brown '73 has committed to finding and funding housing, jobs and clothing/housekeeping equipment for a couple and their three children. Many evacuees are reaching the end of their guaranteed shelter time and need assistance in taking next steps. If any alums want to explore sponsoring a family, couple or individual, contact Janet at 202-872-1020 or by email at jb@debates.org.

Update Your Online "Advisor" Profile

As part of our new networking initiative (see p.1), the Association is encouraging our members to join or update your information in the Williams Career Network. The "Advisor" system helps connect alums with one another for networking purposes. Career advisors play a critical role in the Williams community by providing information to fellow alums who are seeking career advice.

IT'S EASY TO DO! Just follow this link: <https://alumni.ephnet.org/awc32/>

Your username is the last two digits of your graduation year, followed by your initials (e.g. 85abc).

Once you are logged on:

- > Select "Career Services" from the left-hand menu, then
- > Select "My Advising", then
- > Select "My Profile"

You are now ready to update your profile! If you have any questions about the Advisor program or our new networking initiative, contact Jen Doleac at jdoleac@gmail.com.

Visit our NEW association website at www.williams-dc.org.

Sign up for our two listserves and stay current with our events!

Barbara Ernst Prey '79 to Lecture at National Gallery of Art

Barbara Ernst Prey '79, a celebrated watercolor painter, will visit the National Gallery of Art (NGA) to present a lecture as part of the Gallery's Winslow Homer Exhibit (through Feb. 20, 2006).

The lecture is currently scheduled for December 18, 2005 at 2:00 pm. As the event date approaches, look for an announcement from Paul Piquado '93 (paulpiquado@yahoo.com) to confirm details. You may also visit the National Gallery's lecture website at: <http://www.nga.gov/programs/lecture.shtm>, or call the Gallery at 202-737-4215. The lecture will be held in the NGA's East Building auditorium.

Prey's paintings can be found in the White House, The Farnsworth Art Museum, Williams College Museum of Art, The Taiwan Museum of Art, The Henry Luce Foundation, and the Reader's Digest Collection. Visit www.barbaraprey.com to learn more about this star Williams alum and see more of her works.
